

This is one book from the Story Keeper Series of twenty books that are accepted on the Accelerated Reader List with a K-5 interest level. Each book is about a different tribe of Native Americans. All of the stories and illustrations are based on authentic information that is relevant to that particular tribe. They are written on a third and fourth-grade reading level. They each contain three chapters of fiction, one chapter of facts, and include six pages of curriculum teacher aides. These books lend themselves to excellent classroom discussion and would also be perfect for the home schooling environment.
