Excerpt: ... REPORT OF THE COUNCIL. The report of Mr. Paine, our Treasurer for twenty-four years, giving, as usual, a detailed statement of the financial operations of the Society, and the present condition of the various funds, shows that from the total income a dividend of three per cent, has been carried to each fund. The Librarian, who now completes a term of twenty-one years of faithful service, of which fifteen years were passed as an assistant to Dr. Haven, tells the interesting story of what has been done in his department during the past six months. The reports of these two officers are presented as forming a part of the report of the Council. We have to record, at this time, the death of the only member of the Society who, to our knowledge, has passed away since the date of our last meeting,--Pliny Earle Chase, LL.D., Professor at Haverford College, Pennsylvania, who was elected into this Society in October, 1863. A memoir of Prof. Chase has been prepared by our associate in the Council, Samuel S. Green, A.M. A glance at the development of some of the Great Charitable Trusts now in existence, especially at those of our mother country, necessarily carries in its train something more than a mere statement of figures, or the trial-balance of a bookkeeper. The most matter-of-fact penny-a-liner who should be sent to interview that striking character and practical philanthropist, Sir Moses Montefiore, could not bring away from the atmosphere of his imposing presence merely the bare statistics of the cash in his pocket-book and the array of his investments in land, stocks and the public funds. So he who uses such material as may be available for ascertaining the present condition of the great charitable, or semi-charitable institutions of Great Britain, will,--...
